

Microsoft Windows 8.1 Thunderbird Lightning Provider for Google Calendar Installation

These screen shots show the configuration of Mozilla Thunderbird Lightning Provider for Google Calendar on Windows 8.1. This example uses a newly created gmail account. This allows bidirectional exchange of calendar information between Lightning and the Google Calendar account.

Operation System: Microsoft Windows 8.1

Software: Thunderbird 38.1.0

Software: Lightning 4.0.1.2

Software: Provider for Google Calendar 1.0.4

The presentation selects 'calendar' to have Thunderbird display the calendar.

The background application is a calendar interface. At the top right, there are window control buttons and a search icon. Below that is a 'Tasks' section with a checkbox for 'Show completed Tasks' and a list header 'Title'. A search bar is also present. Below the search bar are view options: 'CW: 31', 'Day', 'Week', 'Multiweek', and 'Month'. The main area shows a calendar grid with 'Wednesday Jul 29' highlighted. On the right side, there is a 'Today Pane' with a 'Click here to add a new task' button. At the bottom right, there is a 'Today Pane' dropdown menu.
